Nearly a Score of Alumni Reunions Bring the Spring Season to Peak of Activity

Chapter Officers and Campus Representatives Pleased With Enthusiastic Response Given by Grads and Former Students to Various Rally Calls

Alumni chapter activities have been particularly stirring in recent weeks and promise to continue so for the remainder of the month and well into May. Since the last report, reunions have been held in Middleport, Washington, D. C., New York City, Lima, Coshocton, Newark, and Cleveland. Meetings definitely scheduled or contemplated will be held in Steubenville, April 20; Youngstown, April 21; Columbus, April 28, and in Gallipolis, Marietta, Erie, Pa., Clarksburg, W. Va., and Mansfield.

Mrs. R. B. Poling (Ruth Hall, '13, 2-yr.), president of Youngstown Ohio University Women's Club, has announced that the date for the next meeting of her organization will be May 19, when Dean Irma E. Voigt will be the guest speaker. Mrs. Poling is the wife of Dr. Robert B. Poling, '17, of Youngstown.

MRS. POLING

MEIGS COUNTY—The Meigs County chapter held its annual reunion at the Presbyterian Church in Middleport, March 27. Twenty-six members gathered for the dinner at tables decorated with jonquils and yellow candles.

David C. Miller, '28x, as president, introduced Mrs. Mildred Fowler, soprano, who sang four numbers to the unmistakable delight of all present. The Alumni Secretary with a brief message preceded Dean E. W. Chubb who made a plea for "education in the interest of peace." The program was concluded with informal talks and the singing of Alma Mater.

W. E. Melvin, '25, superintendent of the Middleport schools was elected to succeed Mr. Miller as president while Nancy Reed, '34x, Middleport, was named to succeed Mrs. D. C. Miller (Eleanor Lambert, '27) as secretary for the ensuing year.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—A group of thirty alumni and friends of Ohio University met in the reception room of the Shoreham Hotel on April 11 for the Washington chapter's annual reunion which this year was in the form of a dinner dance.

Prof. George Starr Lasher, head of the department of Journalism at Ohio University, was the guest of honor of the evening. Other visitors from Athens were Mr. and Mrs. Orville D. Dauley (Jennie Dowd, '13).

During the evening a brief recess was taken from the dining room and dance floor, to hold a short business meeting in the reception room, presided over by the president, Mrs. Frederick Imirie. An election of officers was held during which Strickland Gillilan, '95x, was nominated by I. M. Foster, '95, and seconded by Minnie Dean, '22, to be president for the ensuing year. Rules were suspended, and Mr. Gillilan was elected by acclamation.

After a three-cornered, humorous, verbal duel among Mr. Foster, Mr. Gillilan and Prof. Frederick Treudley, a slate of officers consisting of Frederick Treudley, first vice-president, Nelle Shannon, '34, second vice-president, and Noble C. Shilt, '21, secretary, was proposed and unanimously elected by the group. Mr. Shilt is now serving his fourth term as secretary.

Professor Lasher then brought greetings from the University, from Doctor Bryan, and from the Alumni Secretary, Clark Williams. He gave a very interesting account of late events from the campus, and was given a vote of appreciation by the group upon completion of his remarks.

Upon motion by Mr. Foster and seconded by Ethel Riley, '03, the group instructed Professor Lasher to convey back to Athens the greetings and best wishes of the assembly.

Following the brief business meeting, members returned to the dining room for the remainder of the dancing and the floor show, lasting until 1

P. M., at which time informal adjournment was made.

NEW YORK CITY—Continuing on to New York City, Professor Lasher met with the forty-six Ohio University alumni from Gotham, and thereabout, in their annual get-together at the Hotel Lexington on April 12.

Professor Lasher, Dr. Henry W. Elson, former faculty member, and E. V. Tuttle, '04, were the program speakers while musical contributions were made by Ruby Mercer, '27. Group singing was conducted by Mostyn L. "Bump" Jones, '13, in his own inimitable (is that the word, Bump?) manner.

Brief responses by the remainder of those present were marked by enthusiastic suggestions for future reunions.

In the election of officers Dr. H. W. Mayes, '08, and Elizabeth Horn, '27, were chosen to succeed themselves as president and secretary, respectively.

LIMA—At the time of going to press a report of the meeting held in Lima on April 13 had not yet reached the editor's desk. It is a foregone conclusion, however, that any party staged in Lima would be a snappy one.

COSHOCTON—The annual Ohio University banquet was held Friday evening in the Y. W. C. A. rooms, where places were marked for 38 guests, graduates, students, and prospective students of the University.

The university colors, green and white, were carried out in the decorations with a bouquet of white snapdragons used as a centerpiece. Green candles in crystal holders completed the table decorations.

Following the dinner, the president, Helen Foot, '30, extended a welcome to those present, and introduced Clark E. Williams, alumni secretary of the University, who talked on "The Work of the Ohio University Alumni Association."

Ohio University Charter Modeled by Doctor Cutler After Best in America and Europe

Founder's Desire that School Be Called "American University" and that Some Object Be Named in His Honor Was Not Granted by Associates

Shortly after the Ohio Purchase was negotiated Rufus Putnam led a band of hardy spirits to the junction of the Muskingum and Ohio Rivers where Marietta was established as the first permanent English settlement in what is now the state of Ohio. He proceeded at once to survey and lay off the "college lands" and to establish a site for "an University." But after this work, which was strictly that of an engineer and surveyor, he wrote to Doctor Cutler in the East saying "We are totally destitute of any copy of an incorporating act, or charter of a College, or even an Academy."

Manasseh Cutler was prompt in his reply to General Putnam's plea for help and on July 15, 1799, he wrote as follows. "So far as I have had opportunity, I have consulted the charters of seminaries in Europe and America. Those in our own country are generally the more modern, and the best adapted to the purposes intended; but none appear to me to accord with a principle so liberal and extensive as I think ought to be the foundation of the constitution of this University."

Concerning Section I of the Charter, which gave a name to the University, Cutler expressed the following desire: "Since the American Congress made the grant which is the foundation of the University, no name appears to me more natural than 'American University.' The sound is natural, easy, and agreeable, and no name can be more respectable. There is a Columbian College and a Washington College, etc., already in this country, but no American College. I hope the name will not be altered."

In order that The Board of Trustees might have the power of "preserving and purifying itself" Doctor Cutler's charter provided that the president and vice-president of the University should "hold their offices during good behavior." Other instructors were to hold office "during the pleasure of the Government, unless special provision is made by the laws of the College." "The power of dismissing, rustivating, and expelling students" was to be in the hands of The Board. Because the leading Eastern schools believed implicitly in rigid and frequent examinations he saw to it that a provision was made for "quarterly examinations" with examinations for graduation to be given by The Board.

Doctor Cutler was no misguided enthusiast. He realized that the beginnings of the University would be small and the growth of the institution slow. On this point he expressed himself to General Putnam in the following words. "With regard to erecting public buildings for the University, I can not so fully express my mind to you as I could wish. At present, I should not think it best to erect any considerable public building. It will be necessary, in the first instance, to open a Latin school, for I conceive it improbable that any youth can be found in the country qualified for admission as the students of a college. Or if a Freshman class can be formed, it must be small. A building of two stories, pretty large on the ground, in form of a school-house, may answer every purpose for some years. I feel an aversion to large buildings for the residence of students, where there are regular families in which they can reside. Chambers in colleges are too often made the secret nurseries of every vice and the cages of unclean birds."

The charter which had been prepared with great care by Doctor Cutler was presented to the Territorial Legislature and adopted with minor changes by that body. The substance, and, to a great extent, the form of the charter, as Manasseh Cutler drafted it, were incorporated in the territorial Act of January 9, 1802, establishing the "American Western University." No steps to establish the University were taken under this act, however. Meanwhile trouble with the Indians and the movement to achieve statehood caused all action to be dropped until two years later when, on Feb. 18, 1804, Ohio having become a state, the Legislature passed an act establishing the "Ohio University." Ever since, the passage of this act and the date of Feb. 18, 1804, have been recognized as the charter and the date of founding of the institution.

Doctor Cutler never, as far as the writer knows, visited his brain child

Ohio University but he was in close touch with the problems and progress of the school at all times. Close personal friends were appointed to membership on the Board of Trustees and through these he was kept informed on all matters. Only one visit was made to the "Ohio country" by Doctor Cutler. That was in 1788. There is a record of his having preached a sermon on August 24 of that year in the Hall of Campus Martius in Marietta. He took for his text on that occasion the eleventh verse of the first chapter of Malachi.

In 1818, as the founding father was nearing the end of life's journey, he wrote from his home in Hamilton, Mass., to his son Ephraim Cutler in Marietta regarding a matter in which he had a natural and understandable interest. "Although I have written so long a letter," penned Doctor Cutler, "I will venture to mention one matter more, in which you and my other children have a greater interest than myself, and it may be in your power to promote. I am going off the stage and any mark of respect that can be shown to me in this world, I consider of very little consequence

Editorial Comment . . .

IN CONCLUDING one of the finest and most appropriate addresses to an alumni chapter that it has been the privilege of the writer to hear, Dr. E. A. Hansen, professor of Elementary Education and principal of the Rufus Putnam School at Ohio University, recently quoted an unknown author as follows:

"To be at home in all lands and all ages; to count nature a familiar acquaintance and art an intimate friend; to gain a standard for the appreciation of other men's work and the criticism of one's own; to carry the keys of the world's library in one's pocket and feel its resources behind one in whatever task he undertakes; to make hosts of friends among the men of one's own age who are to be leaders in all walks of life; to lose oneself in generous enthusiasm and cooperate with others for common ends; to learn manners from students who are gentlemen and form character under professors who are Christians—these are the returns a further education offers for the best hours of one's life."

Surely that is an inspiring statement; one worthy to be carved on university gateways and to be brought to the attention of young college men and women everywhere. But more than that it is an aim worthy of the highest ambition and striving of those who have left college halls, for life after campus days is but a continuation of one's education in new and different manners.

AT LAST a group of teachers have formed a union and have affiliated themselves with the American Federation of Labor. This news will probably come as a shock to the more staid and conservative members of the teaching profession but it need be no surprise. Drastic measures are sometimes required to bring about improvements in the order of things. While the long-established ethical codes and the dignity of the profession may be disturbed by the movement to organize and by the practice of collective bargaining, we cannot help but feel that the 700 Cleveland teachers are well within their moral and legal rights in preparing to demand a bit more recognition and reward for their labors.

In a statement of principles submitted to the Cleveland school board by the newly-formed local union, they called upon the board to endorse and to seek federal aid for the public schools. The statement also included clauses dealing with wage and working conditions.

The request for federal aid reads, in part, as follows:

It has always been a fact that in any economic recovery public servants, dependent upon public funds, are the last to feel the effects of such recovery. Prices rise and at the same time their compensations decline.

"In view of the fact that railroads, banks, farmers, and many other groups are a deep concern to the federal government it would seem reasonable and fair that urgent representation be made to make federal aid available to the backbone of American civilization, the public schools.

"The failure of banks and railroads can only be described as a major catastrophe. There are no words to depict the hopelessness of our people were the schools to collapse."

IF YOU are one of the fortunate persons who will be able to manage a visit to foreign parts this summer and have occasion to write for rates or information to any of the steamship lines or travel organizations carrying advertising in The Ohio Alumnus, please be sure to mention the fact that you are an alumnus of Ohio University.

The continuance of this advertising will depend largely upon the response of Ohioans to it and, even though the revenue derived from it by The Alumnus is meager, the loss of this source of income will be keenly felt in these difficult times.

IF AN OHIOAN has a high school senior or other desirable prospective student whom he desires to bring to the campus for a visit this spring we recommend that consideration be given to May 4 and 5 and the interesting program of events scheduled for those dates.

The numerous and varied activities of the annual Mothers' Week-End will be open to all as will the high school invitational track meet on Saturday. These two events, together with the entertainment to be provided for the several hundred participants in the district high school scholarship contest, will make this two-day period a gala time for all campus visitors.

Distinguished Latin Scholar Will Lead Grecian Tour

Dr. Anna Pearl MacVay, '92, extends a cordial invitation to all who can to accompany her party on a summer tour of ancient shrines and modern scenes. The trip will be of two months' duration and the itinerary will include famous cities in Italy, Greece, Crete, and Portugal.

Miss MacVay is well known to thousands of people in many lands as the general chairman of committees which organized and conducted the great American celebration of the Bicentennial of Vergil. From 1928-31 she was active in this undertaking, and traveled throughout the United States, lecturing on Vergil and the significance of his anniversary, speaking to thousands of teachers, students, and others interested in literature and art. In the summer of 1930, she was a lecturer—and the only woman so honored—on the Vergilian Cruise and Aeneid Pilgrimage, and was appointed to lay the Pilgrims' wreath at the Tomb of Vergil. The International Association of Mediterranean Studies presented her with the official Vergilian medal issued by the Italian Government.

Doctor MacVay is Dean of Wadleigh High School in New York City, and instructor in Greek and Latin; a vice-president of the American Classical Club and of the New York Association of Deans.

Any one interested in further details of the trip may write to Miss MacVay at Apt. 95, 418 Central Park, West, New York City, or to World Acquaintance Travel, 56 West 45th Street, New York City.

Nearly Score of Alumni Meets

The Liberal Arts College spoke on "The Educational Needs of Today."

Brief talks were given by Norman Lewis, '33x, and Douglas Dole, '30, while Madeline Schaeffer, '08, 2-yr., gave "Reminiscences of Ohio University." University songs were sung under the leadership of Mr. Williams.

During the business session the following officers were elected for the coming year: President, Waive Ripple, '30; vice-president, Norman Lewis; secretary-treasurer, Rosemary Wise, '31. Camilla Tidball, '26, 2-yr., is the retiring secretary.

NEWARK. The Moundbuilders Chapter of the Ohio University Alumni Association entertained with an attractively appointed dinner party Saturday night in Moundbuilders Inn. Dean Edwin Watts Chubb of the University was the guest speaker. He was accompanied by Clark Williams, alumni secretary.

The table was centered with spring flowers and crystal candelabra filled with white candles. A color scheme of green and white was used in all appointments to suggest the school colors. The dinner was attended by twenty-nine persons with Rev. Dr. A. J. Hawk, '79, presiding. The secretary for the past year has been Mabel L. Hall, '20x.

A short business meeting was held and the following officers were elected: President, Thora MacDonagh, '30x; vice-president, Ethel Cooperrider, '30; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Gerald Smith (Hilah Vorhees), '26x.

Dean Chubb, in his talk, spoke on the need for education to bring the social and spiritual life to the same plane that has been reached by science. The party featured the sixth reunion and dinner of the local organization.

CLEVELAND—Eighty-five members of the Western Reserve Chapter convened at the College Club in Cleveland April 14 for a dinner and dance. President G. Floyd Cooper, '15, assumed charge of the program, assisted by Betty Breese, '30, chapter secretary. Professor Mackinnon and Coach W. J. Trautwein represented the campus and received a warm welcome. "Mac," in the best Mackinnon manner, brought news of the campus up to date for the Clevelanders, while "Bill" cleverly described the athletic policies and situations at the University. The former was introduced by Carr Liggett, '16, and the latter by President Cooper. Dancing and cards, together with a large amount of social conversation, were other features of the program. A number of alumni dropped in after the dinner to join the party.

Plans were initiated for the coming winter when the chapter will probably be convened at the time of the Ohio University-Western Reserve basketball game at which a large turnout is expected. Although the size of the group this year was somewhat smaller than usual it was a representative one.

Yale and Harvard Deans Will Give Commencement Addresses

The dates for the annual spring Commencement this year are June 2, 3, and 4. A complete program of exercises for the occasion will be announced in the May Alumnus.

The Baccalaureate address on June 3 will be given by Dean Luther A. Weigel of Yale University. The Commencement address, on the following day, will be given by Dean Clinton P. Biddle, '17, of Harvard University. Mr. Biddle is associate dean of the Harvard School of Business Administration.

The Commencement Play will be "Romeo and Juliet." Another feature of the program will be the annual picnic under "The Elms."

University Charter Is Modeled to myself, but may be of some to my posterity. It is this: That, as the College is now established, there might be some memento preserved in it, respecting the obtaining so large a fund as the two townships, which I was the sole instrument of procuring, tho' not the real donor; such as the name of some building, or hall, or some other object of less consequence—merely preservative of the name. This is no more than has been invariably customary in all the colleges in New England."

Despite the eminence of Manasseh Cutler and his profound influence upon Ohio University, his wish that a building should be named in his honor was not gratified during his lifetime or during that of his children and grandchildren. It was not until 1915 that the Center Building, erected in 1817, the oldest college building in the state, was renamed Cutler Hall, a tardy honor to the name of one so important in the history of the school.

Manasseh Cutler died at Hamilton, Mass., July 28, 1823, in the eighty-second year of his age and the fifty-second year of his ministry in Hamilton.

Prior to the dancing an election of officers was held which resulted in the selection of Lawrence G. Worstell, Jr., '25, as president, B. W. Taylor, '11, vice president, Margaret A. Smith, '29, secretary, and L. H. Mills, '16, treasurer.

On and About the Campus . . .

PREDICTIONS are being made freely that the 1934 Junior Prom, major social event of the year, which is to be held at the Men's Gymnasium April 21, will be the biggest campus event of its kind in recent years. The Prom Committee, headed by James Powell, Youngstown, chairman, and John McLean, Canton, president of the Junior Class, will bring Hal Kemp and his internationally known orchestra to Athens for the function.

The usual Prom Queen will be selected on the night of the dance by members of the orchestra. The band recently terminated a long engagement at the Blackhawk Restaurant in Chicago and is making a short tour before opening at the Hotel Roosevelt in New York. The band will play for the Purdue University Prom on the night preceding the engagement on the campus here.

DR. JAMES P. PORTER, head of the Ohio University Department of Psychology, was recently elected president of the Ohio Academy of Science at its annual meeting in Columbus. The meeting of the group last year attracted several hundred scientists to the Ohio University campus. Doctor Porter, well-known to a host of alumni, is internationally known for his work with college freshmen tests, commercial and industrial psychology, and for work in the field of education. He has been a member of the faculty since 1922.

OUTSTANDING among the recent musical programs offered on the Ohio University campus have been the annual University Band concert April 7 and the recital by Prof. Paul Fontaine on the following Sunday night. Both were presented in Alumni Memorial Auditorium.

THE conference study plan which proved to be successful in the post-summer session of three weeks last year will again be used this summer. Conference periods and informal discussions supplant classroom work. The regular summer school session is scheduled for June 11 to Aug. 3, while the shorter term will open Aug. 6 and continue through Aug. 24.

EDITOR James Powell and Business Manager Ted Ronson presented the Ohio University student body with what is believed to be a record-breaking student magazine. The April Ohioan, much alive and attractive, contained 64 pages.

THE ONE NIGHT of the year when Ohio University men are men and women are entirely feminine occurred on the campus April 18. The annual Men's Rodeo and Women's Oyo were staged in the gymnasiums for men and women, respectively, from 5:30 to 7:30, with the unusual enthusiasm being displayed in both buildings.

The annual get-togethers were supported by lively programs, athletic contests featuring the Rodeo and selections by the Women's League orchestra being prominent on the Oyo program. Brice Michaels, Parkersburg, W. Va., and Catherine Sweeney, Youngstown, headed the group arranging for the Oyo, while Bob Hilbert, Piqua, and Elmus Snoderly, Fairmont, W. Va., were active in planning the Men's Union Rodeo.

SIGMA DELTA CHI, national professional journalism fraternity, is again springing into prominence with announcements of two forthcoming events. The group is bringing Tony Sarg's famous puppet show, "Uncle Remus," to the campus April 24, and has announced that the annual Gridiron Banquet will be held on May 1.

A NEW BIDDER for the Rotary Cup appeared last week when Chi Omega sorority won the annual Sorority Sing. This was the first leg of the trophy this group has won, while Alpha Xi Delta, judged second, has twice been declared winner on previous occasions and Pi Beta Phi and Alpha Gamma Delta once each.

AFTER highly successful programs in Gallipolis and Marietta, the Ohio University Vested Choir is scheduled to sing at the Trinity Methodist Church in Portsmouth, May 1, and at the First M. E. Church at Parkersburg, May 13. Several other out-of-town appearances are being planned.

MAILS carried 16,000 letters, 544 books, and 3,320 bulletins for the Ohio University correspondence study branch of the Extension Division last year, according to the annual report just made public. A total of $833.57 was spent for postage in presenting the 190 courses. Registrations for the first three months this year were the same as for the first quarter, 1933, a total of 187. The Extension Division reports a new long-distance record for correspondence study. Logan Fry, '31, of Monrovia, Liberia, is taking a course in accounting.

THE alumni chapter of Sigma Xi, honorary science group, brought one of the most distinguished men of science to the campus for a dinner and an open meeting on April 18. Dr. Carl C. Speidel of the University of Virginia, winner of the American Association for the Advancement of Science Prize of $1000 in 1931 for his research in connection with the growth, irritation, and behavior of nerves and muscle fibers, spoke and showed slides and motion pictures illustrating his studies.

ALARGE number of the Ohio University faculty attended sessions of the Citizens' Conference on the Crisis in Education which were recently held in Columbus. Prof. F. J. Roes spoke before the art section, Miss Helen Reynolds took part in the discussions of the commerce groups, and Dr. Edith Beechel spoke to the teacher education sections.

Another group of faculty people attended the Ohio College Association meetings and members of the men's and women's athletic departments attended the National Physical Education meeting in Cleveland, April 18-21.

SEVERAL hundred high school students and teachers of Home Economics will visit the campus April 21 for the annual conference sponsored by that department. Included in the program are addresses by several alumnae, a play, and a short concert by the Women's Glee Club. The Glee Club is scheduled to sing at the Jackson Eisteddfod the day preceding and will broadcast from Station WOSU, Columbus, May 9.

WHY GRADUATES TRAVEL

An unusual opportunity presented itself last year to learn more of the "why and wherefore"—not to mention the "where-to"—of graduate travel. More than 3,000 graduates of American colleges and universities wrote about their travel plans to the Graduate Travel Service in New York—an organization which became last year the travel headquarters for college men and women.

The "where-to" of graduate travel was:

Destination	Inquiries
Europe	675
California	318
Bermuda	301
Yellowstone	279
Dude Ranches	202
Alaska	191
Short Cruises	186
Mediterranean	172
Panama Canal	169
Hawaii	164
Round World	163
West Indies	153
Russia	128
Transcontinental	120
South America	110
Scandinavia	107
Orient	100

The "whereby" also revealed the preference of our graduates for the leading steamship and railroad companies:

Services	Inquiries
United States Lines	239
Cunard Line	197
French Line	193
Dollar Line	184
North German Lloyd	177
Italian Line	126
Furness Bermuda	118
Red Star Line	111
Hamburg American Line	109
Great White Fleet	93
Southern Pacific Railroad	93
Holland American Line	88
White Star Line	87
Panama Pacific	85
Swedish American Line	49

The average graduate believes that two is company and three a crowd and travels in a snug little party of two.

This year graduates will again be offered, gratis, the aid of The Graduate Travel Service. We trust they will avail themselves of it, not only because it will enable us to learn more about their preferences as travelers, but also because it will stimulate the increased use by travel advertisers of the advertising columns of graduate magazines.

ELECTIONS are almost every day occurrences on the campus now, with the new heads of student publications already announced, and new officials in other organizations yet to be chosen. New members for campus honoraries are also being selected at this season.

Directing the publications next year will be Marcella Lawrence, Akron, editor of The Athena; John McLean, Canton, editor of the Green and White; and James Powell, Youngstown, re-elected to head The Ohioan. Alfred Craft, Glouster, will be business manager of the Green and White, Milton Schmotzer, Cleveland, business manager of The Athena; and John Boyd, Bedford, manager of The Ohioan. Other persons named to fill publications' offices were: Morris Rabin, Cleveland, sports editor of the Green and White, Claude Smith, Berea, advertising manager of Green and White; and Robert McAdoo, Cleveland, circulation manager of same publication.

GIVEN fair weather on May 5, the Ohio University campus will witness what is expected to be the most elaborate and varied program staged in connection with a spring celebration.

Three distinct programs are scheduled for the Saturday, and something is listed for every minute from early morning until late at night. The tenth annual Mother's Week-end will have its climactic program Saturday, the first annual Ohio University Relays are expected to attract several hundred high school track athletes to the campus, while the annual district scholarship contest will bring nearly one thousand outstanding high school pupils to Ohio University.

Receptions for visiting parents and teachers will be held at the Men's Union Saturday morning while a hand concert for the visiting high school contestants is to close a busy forenoon. Track activities are scheduled for early afternoon. Announcements of awards for high school students will be made at 3:30 o'clock. The annual Women's League play for Mother's Day this year is "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch" and this feature is to be held in Memorial Auditorium at 8 o'clock. A serenade by the Men's Glee Club under the direction of Prof. C. C. Robinson, head of the School of Music, in front of Lindley Hall will close the day's program at 10:45 o'clock.

AFTER finishing an afternoon's session of spring football practice, the two Ohio University gridiron stars pictured here sub as night watchmen on the campus.

Strangely enough, the gridmen are not anxious for warm weather to come. They find that warm days make more instructors open classroom windows with the result that the "student nightwatchmen" must close and lock them. Stephan has figured out that he climbs more than three thousand steps in his five-hour shift, while Robinette says that some of the recent warm days have forced him to close and lock more than five hundred windows.

Robinette and Stephan are replacing one of the regular nightwatchmen forced to give up his position temporarily because of illness in his family.

TWENTY-FIVE fraternity and five independent debating teams in an intra-mural league are now arguing the question: Resolved that the old fashioned girl is preferable to the modern, sophisticated girl.

ALICE BEASLEY, Athens sopra no, pupil of Miss Helen Hedden, will offer her senior recital April 22 and Helen McKibben, Zaleski, will present a senior piano recital May 6. Both are scheduled for Memorial Auditorium and will attract large audiences.

PLANS are nearing completion for the annual Senior Day activities on the campus, May 18. Committees are arranging for the program of the day and the Senior Ball to be held in the Men's Gymnasium that night. Don Shepherd, Morristoryn, president of the Senior Class, and Don Griffin, Cleveland, are in charge of arrangements. The annual Senior Day convocation will be held in the morning.

DEAN IRMA E. VOIGT was recently heard over Station WLW, Cincinnati, in a short talk before the biennial conference of the Northeast Central Section of the American Association of University Women. Dean Voigt, sectional director, presided. Dr. Kathryn McHale, national director of the association, returned to Athens with Dean Voigt to attend a tea given in her honor. A number of faculty women attended the Cincinnati meeting.

ONE of the world's greatest calculating geniuses, Dr. Salo Finkelstein, who recently arrived from Europe, spoke on the campus April 23. The noted European scholar has appeared on the campuses of many outstanding universities and proved a delightful speaker and entertainer to his Athens audience.

TEN members of the Ohio University Symphony Orchestra have been accepted to play in the All-Ohio Intercollegiate Orchestra which is to be the attraction of a music festival at Kent State College, May 12. The Ohio group is under the supervision of Prof. DeForest W. Ingerham, while Dr. Howard Hanson will direct the orchestra. The evening concert will be broadcast over Station WTAM at 9 o'clock. Several members of the University Band recently appeared in a similar festival for bands at Baldwin Wallace College.

Diamond Victories Over Big Ten Foes and Decisive Track Win Make Coaches Happy

By C. A. DENSMORE, '32

SPRING may be a lazy time of year for many people, but not so for Ohio University's up-and-coming athletic teams. Both participants and coaches are working hard to brighten Ohio's sport record which became somewhat tarnished during the fall and winter.

The Bobcat baseball team is well up in the percentage column this spring by virtue of early season, non-conference wins. To date, the Bobcats have won 4 games and lost 3 while Coach Bill Herbert's championship track squad in its opening meet defeated Ohio Wesleyan at Ohio Stadium, April 14, by a score of 81½ to 49½.

Notable among the early season victories of Coach Don Peden's ball-tossers were two of a four game series with the University of Illinois, and the 5-2 defeat administered Ohio State. Two games with West Virginia University were cancelled because of cold weather. The Bobcats will open their drive for a Buckeye baseball trophy April 17 when they meet Marshall College at Huntington, W. Va., defending champions. Athens residents and varsity students will get their first taste of Buckeye competition when the Battling Bishops play here April 20.

Lack of outdoor practice told on the Bobcats in their first two games with the Illini. Coach Peden's Alma Mater took the initial encounter, 9-2, as Illinois bunched 11 hits and were aided by five Ohio errors. Misplays cost the Bobcats the second fray as Ohio lost 4-5. In the third engagement however, Marty Londrigan bested the Illinois athletes 1-0 in a good contest, while a triple by Bill Schreiber, Bridgeport, Conn., first baseman, in the ninth inning of the fourth game gave Ohio a 10-9 victory.

The last contest with Carl Lundgren's men was a peculiar one, both teams appearing to have the game in the bag only to see the tide change swiftly. Ohio piled up an 8-3 advantage for Sam Galabow in the first six innings, but "Lefty" was forced to give way to Londrigan in the eighth after Illinois had brought their total to eight runs.

Bunched hits for the Bobcats together with costly errors on the part of Ohio State enabled the Pedenmen to defeat the Buckeyes. Although outhit by the Columbus team, a big eighth inning decided the encounter. Ohio State took the lead by scoring in the second and fourth innings, while the Bobcats tied the score in the fourth and fifth frames.

In the eighth, Lassman, Ohio second baseman, drew a pass, went to second as Bartel reached first by an error. Schreiber hit to short and the bases were loaded for the first time in the game. Wills broke his bat on an easy grounder, but everyone was safe. Bill Schmidt hit to Steve Lewis, Ohio State third baseman and a former Bobcat player, who did not know what to do with the ball, Bartel reaching home. Galabow flied to centerfield and Wills was forced out at second, while Schreiber was safe at home.

OHIO UNIVERSITY'S defeat of the Bishops' track squad was accomplished at a cold, wind-swept Ohio Stadium. Wesleyan appeared weaker than last season, while the performance of the Ohio men was handicapped by cold weather and the lack of outside practice. Two records fell, however, as Bernard Newcome, Athens trackster, broke the broad jump mark by a scant ¼ inch and Paul Halleck, promising sophomore weight man from Youngstown, set a new mark with the discus throw of 136 feet 4 inches, beating the old mark by 22 inches.

Newcome beat out White, Wesleyan's one-man track team, for individual scoring honors when the former took firsts in the two sprints and the broad jump, while White was first in two hurdle races, second in broad jump and third in the century. Dupler, Enterprise, and Gilmore, Hamilton, easily won the two-mile and half mile races. Ohio gained first in eight events and tied for top honors in two others, while the Bishops took five first places. The Bobcat championship relay team was defeated by the Wesleyan runners in the final event of the meet.

ELDEN ARMBRUST

ELDEN ARMBRUST, Washington C. H. trackster, is being tried in a new event this year after competing as a sprinter, hurdler, and broad jumper last season. "Army," who also plays in the Bobcat backfield, is now competing in the pole vault. Coach Bill Herbert is still undecided as to whether he will keep Armbrust in the pole vault or place him in the hurdle events for the remainder of the season.

SEVEN ERRORS in the field offset the Bobcats' heavy hitting in the first Buckeye Conference game and Marshall College downed Ohio University, 8-7, in a 10-inning fray. Coach Peden's men tried the count twice during the battle, but the Thundering Herd scored the deciding run when Goyette doubled, stole third, and came home as Sammy Siegel allowed a throw from Wills to get away from him.

TWO home runs included in a barrage of extra-base hits enabled the Bobcats to defeat Ohio Wesleyan's baseball team, April 20, by a 7-5 score.

Here and There Among the Alumni

With evident pride in her ancestral strain, Leona Hughes, '30, secretary to the Director of the Extension Division at Ohio University, laid a newspaper clipping on the desk of the Alumni Secretary. After reading it the Secretary joins Miss Hughes in agreeing that these Welsh are the folks. Here's the clipping. "JACKSON. What's this about Welsh in Jackson County? In the list of 28 selected for the Athens high school scholarship test at Athens, May 5, eight are named Davis, two Jones, two Morgan, and one each Jenkins, Hughes and Williams. Oak Hill will send 23 of the 26 students chosen to participate."

Writing from Salamanca, N. Y., John Alden, '32, reports that he has been transferred from an editorial position on the Salamanca Republican-Press to the position of advertising manager. John says that the transfer is "without an increase in salary but I am promised one as soon as they see what cards have been dealt in this alleged 'New Deal.'"

Mrs. Rhys D. Evans (Mary Chapplear, '09), Akron, has thoughtfully provided the Editor with the information that "Helen McCaughey is to be married in June to Dr. Sam Gehman, a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania and a member of Phi Beta Kappa. He is a mechanical physicist in the research department of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co." Miss McCaughey attended Ohio University during 1928-29, and is a daughter of U. M. McCaughey, '01, principal of one of the Akron schools. Mrs. Evans is the wife of the director of physical research of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company, who is also president of Ohio University's General Alumni Association. Mr. and Mrs. Evans will have more than one reason for coming to the campus this year since their son, Bob, will receive a Bachelor of Arts degree on June 4.

"Women who suffer much to keep away that dread specter of obesity have a harder time reducing by fasting than men, who don't pay so much attention to such matters." Such is the evidence found by Dr. Esther M. Greisheimer, '14, of the University of Minnesota, and presented March 31, at the annual convention of the Federation of American Societies of Experimental Biology.

In the interest of science, Dr. Greisheimer reported, 54 adults, students and instructors at the university, fasted for 60 hours. During that period, the subjects—28 women and 26 men—got along on water, black coffee and clear tea, and performed their daily routines.

The men lost more weight than the women, said Dr. Greisheimer. The average weight loss for the women was 5.21 pounds; for the men, 6.43. The range of weight loss for the women was 3 to 10 pounds; that for the opposite sex was 3 $\frac{1}{2}$ to 12 $\frac{1}{2}$ pounds.

Ruby Mercer, '27, lyric soprano and Julliard Scholarship holder in New York City, received word on April 11 that she was a successful candidate in the Walter

W. Naumburg Musical Foundation's tenth annual competitive auditions. The National Music League heard 126 artists compete and chose 30 for the finals. The award is a debut recital in New York City's famous Town Hall with all expenses paid by the musical foundation. The judges for the competitive auditions were Walter Spaulding, Harvard University, chairman, Wallace Goodrich, director of the New England Conservatory of Music, Bruce Simonds, Yale University, Adolfo Betti, formerly of the Flonzaley Quartette, and Lawrence Tibbett, of the Metropolitan Opera Company. Miss Mercer came to Ohio University early in February for two concerts which were received with acclaim by members of the faculty and student body.

A NEW FRONTIER

"No more frontiers!" they cry.
 "No westward moving van,
 No savage foe to meet,
 No chance to face defeat
 That breeds the rugged man.
 No trail on which to die."

Is there no new frontier?
 Is there no unexplored?
 Is there no Darien
 As yet unscathed by man?
 Is mankind in accord?
 Is the millenium here?

There is a new frontier,
 But men have passed it by.
 The world on every hand
 Awaits a daring band
 To change and purify.
 O come, O Pioneer!

RUSSELL D. TUBAUGH, '25

Besse A Hawk, '13, is completing her nineteenth year as an instructor in the high school at Dover during which period she has sent a number of her students to Ohio University. Her most recent contribution has been Clayton "Pop" Kessler, a tackle on the varsity football teams and a senior this year. Kessler has demonstrated ability in the classroom as well as on the gridiron, so let's have more of his sort, Miss Hawk.

To Prof. C. Lee Shilliday's department of Biology at Morris Harvey College, Boursville, W. Va., has recently been added the work in Geography. We suppose that, as has been true almost everywhere else, Mr. Shilliday's work has been doubled and his salary halved. These are great days. Mr. Shilliday, who graduated in 1912, is the husband of the former Miss Clara May Floyd, '14, 2-yr.

A report of the Central Statistical Board, made in Washington to the President of the United States, discloses that Dr. O. C. Stine, '08, is a member of that organization. The Board was established by Executive Order on July 27, 1933, "to formulate statistical standards for and to affect coordination of the statistical services of the Federal Government incident to the establishment of the National Industrial Recovery Act." The members of the Board were selected by the President and the Secretaries of the Interior, Agriculture, Commerce, and Labor. Doctor Stine, Chief of the Division of Statistical and Historical Research in the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, received his appointment from the Secretary of Agriculture. In the organization of the Board, containing 17 members, Doctor Stine was named second vice chairman.

Edna Ervin, '31, until recently editor of the Democrat-Enquirer at McArthur, has accepted a position as local correspondent and advertising representative at Gallipolis for the Athens Messenger. This position was formerly held by Ward E. Conaway, '33x, who has returned to Cardington, his home town, to assist his father in editing the Morrow County Independent.

Friends of Joe Dando, '31x, and particularly of his sister, Miss Betty, of Jackson, who is known to a great many Ohio University people, will be pleased to know that the latter is to have an audition with the Metropolitan Opera Company in New York City. On April 7 Miss Dando sang a major role in the opera "Carmen" staged in Memorial Hall in Columbus. She is a student of Mme. Marta Wittkowska. The Jackson girl has won two national awards for her singing as a coloratura soprano, one at the national Eststedt in 1930 and the other at a contest conducted by the National Federation of Women's Clubs at its biennial session in Boston in 1929.

Through Newman M. Powell, '15, high school instructor of Pt. Pleasant, W. Va., has come the sad news of the death of his brother-in-law, Dr. B. M. Beatty (husband of Mary Powell, '12) at London, Ohio. Doctor Beatty was a dentist. Besides his widow he is survived by three children.

The Alumni Secretary spent a pleasant half hour on April 4 with Blanche Robinson, '16, instructor in English in the Brush High School at South Euclid. Miss Robinson took time out while attending the meetings of the Ohio Education Association to run down to the campus to renew her contacts with alma mater. She expects to complete work for a master's degree at Ohio State University. This summer, however, she contemplates a vacation trip to New Mexico.

The Ohio State Journal in its issue of April 7 carried the following story in which Sam Garey, '24x, figured. Sam is assistant manager of the Neil House in Columbus.

"There's a surprise in store for a woman who rode a Neil House elevator yesterday morning.

When she and her little daughter boarded it somewhere between the first and eighth floors, it was occupied by two other passengers—a tall, distinguished-looking woman, and Samuel A. Garey, assistant manager.

The tall woman smiled at the child, and when her greeting was shyly returned, stooped and took the youngster in her arms. The little girl obviously enjoyed the ride to the main floor in her arms.

The youngster's mother witnessed the scene unmoved, clearly unaware of the identity of the women who had made friends with her daughter. But Garey and the elevator girl were not so unimpressed. For the tall woman was Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt."

Another visitor who served to brighten the day for the Alumni Secretary recently was E. M. Preston, principal of Prospect School in East Cleveland. He was a student at Ohio University in 1905. Mr. Preston, who has been in the East Cleveland schools for twenty years, was accompanied by his wife, daughter, and a friend of the latter. The party was returning from the National Capitol where the youngsters had thoroughly enjoyed the spring vacation period.

From up in Middlebury, Vt., Eleanor Hazeltine, '32, member of the editorial staff of the Middlebury Register, wrote to friends in January: "We have had some typical Little America weather here. Byrd should come up and discover us some time. For almost two weeks we had weather 30 degrees below and since then the mercury has hovered from between 16 below and 30 above."

And while speaking of these newspaper folks the editor is reminded that he has just received news that out in Falls City, Neb., The Daily News has been merged with The Daily Journal to become The Falls City Journal. The new paper will be published by Virgil Falloon, '13, a former judge of the Richardson County Court. Mr. Falloon's father was a pioneer editor and political leader in the southwestern part of Nebraska for a great many years and is evidently being followed successfully by a member of a younger generation.

Dr. Carl A. Frey, '25, associate professor of Bacteriology at Ohio University, submitted to an operation for appendicitis at Sheltering Arms Hospital in Athens on March 12, but has long since recovered and is again able to play with the wide assortment of "bugs" which he keeps bottled up in his laboratory.

Ada Kennedy, '23, New Marshfield, an artist who has painted and sketched in several parts of the country but chiefly in the Southern Ohio hills, held an exhibition of her pictures in the Athens Chamber of Commerce rooms, April 11, under the sponsorship of the City Federation of Women's Clubs. Nearly one hundred pictures were on display. Miss Kennedy has done graduate work with Professor Jacques of the University of Notre Dame and is a member of the American Artists Professional League.

Herbert B. Inboden, '28, mechanical drawing and history teacher at Princeton Junior High School, Youngstown, has recently received his Master of Arts degree from the University of Pittsburgh.

Several former students and graduates of Ohio University had solo or chorus parts in the famous cantata, "The Seven Last Words of Christ" given at the Methodist Church in Jackson on Easter Sunday. Directing the choir of 45 voices was Theodore Michael, '26, well known during his campus days as a midnight serenade. Others participating in the cantata were Carrie Moriarity, '22, 2-yr., Merrill Davis, '33, and Robert Whitaker, '35x.

Mrs. James H. Boden, mother of Mrs. J. Paul Sauvageot (Ludell Boden, '27), Akron, James G. Boden, '31, Athens, and John W. Boden, senior in the University, died at her home in Athens, March 20, from heart trouble.

The cartoon which is reproduced above is a portion of a drawing that appeared in the San Francisco Examiner some time in January. It was taken from the Hearst Syndicate's imitation of the Ripley "Believe It or Not" cartoons appearing in the Examiner and, as can be seen, pictures Perry W. Fattig, '12, who is curator of the museum at Emory University in Georgia. The cartoon came under the eagle eye of Louise Price, a classmate of Curator Fattig and was sent to the Alumni Office by her. Miss Price is a personnel and social director at Stanford University, Palo Alto. Before going to Emory University, Mr. Fattig was professor of Agriculture at the University of Florida in Gainesville and later professor of Biology at State Teachers College, Farmville, Va.

The departments of Biology and Psychology of Ohio University were represented by speakers at the 44th annual convention of the Ohio Academy of Science held in Columbus on March 30-31. In the section of Medical Science, Dr. Rush Elliott, '24, presented a paper on "The Development of the Motor Nuclei of the Hindbrain of the Domestic Fowl." A paper on "Some Findings in Fifteen Objective Tests of 350 College Freshmen," the result of work done on the Ohio University campus, was presented by Dr. James P. Porter, Leonard L. Henninger, '31, and Charles R. Fiddler, '28, all of the psychology department. Dr. Porter and Charles Fiddler, with Ruth C. Schisler, '33, prepared a paper on "The Reliability of Audometer Tests with School Children."

Just three weeks after she was called home by the death of her father, Mrs. C. M. Coulter (Mary Lovell, '21x) was again called to her parental home, this time by the sudden death of her mother. Mrs. Coulter is the wife of Rev. C. M. Coulter, minister of the Methodist Episcopal Church in Athens.

Although Coach William J. Trautwein is not a graduate of Ohio University he has made hundreds of friends among the alumni who will learn with regret of the recent death of his father, Mr. J. W. Trautwein, at Springfield, Ohio. Coach Trautwein is a graduate of Wittenberg College.

A death in the family of another Ohioan was that of Mrs. Anna Chapman, mother of C. O. Chapman, '19, superintendent of schools of Meigs County. Mrs. Chapman passed away on March 18.

At a meeting of the Gallipolis chapter of the American Association of University Women held at the home of Mrs. Leo Bean (Julia Baker, '11, 2-yr.) early last month Miss Anna Simmerman, '17, was elected president for the ensuing year.

In a series of "Brief Biographies of the Best Known Columbus Teachers," appearing in the Ohio State Journal the subject of April 5 was Mary Morris, '12, an instructor in English and history in Central High School. Among other statements made in the biographical sketch was this: "During her 26 years of service she has taught every grade. For several years she was an instructor in a southern Ohio college for teachers."

In the first inter-scholastic wrestling meet ever scheduled in New York state the high school at Ellensburg was represented by a young 145-pounder by the name of Hamilton who wrestled three times and won each match by falls. He was claimed the outstanding performer of the tournament. Hamilton's coach at Ellensburg High School is William Stanford, '31, who received his training in the mat game under Coach Thor Olson.

From "The Ancient Greek," chapter letter of Delta Tau Delta fraternity, edited by Tom Byrne, '31, the following interesting items have been gleaned. Gene Tilton, '28, is selling textbooks for the American Book Company. . . . Dick Goos, '31, is principal of the high school at Jacksonburg. . . . Bud DuBois, '28x is a very successful coach in the high school at West Chester. . . . Harold Williams, '27x is associated with F. B. Keech & Company, brokers, in Washington, D. C. . . . George Burkett's Tiffin Columbian basketball team was entered in the Ohio scholastic basketball finals at Columbus. George graduated in 1924.

Mrs. Francis Higgins (Frances Clark, '28), is general supervisor of the 19 nursery schools which have been established in Athens County under the Emergency School Program, a program made possible by an appropriation of federal funds. Approximately 275 children ranging in age from three to six years meet daily except Saturday and Sunday for four hours under the care of trained teachers. Cod liver oil and orange or tomato juice are included in the food diet provided for the youngsters. The state director of emergency schools has recently commended Mrs. Higgins for the efficiency and success of her work.
